

LAPTOP VERSUS TABLETS

If you are thinking of buying a new tablet or laptop, you may want to consider the advantages and disadvantages of each.

On the one hand, a tablet is more comfortable when it comes to transporting it, although it is more difficult when you write. Also, a tablet is quite cheap compared to laptops. They also both need a battery so that it doesn't turn off during use, but typically a laptop battery is more powerful.

On the other hand, a laptop has more and larger components than a tablet. However, it depends on the use you are going to give it, you will get a more optimal performance. The screen of a tablet is smaller than that of a laptop. Besides, a laptop needs to be cleaned often as it picks up dust.

In conclusion, the decision to choose is in your hands after knowing the advantages and disadvantages, in short, a laptop has more advantages.
